BOULANGIST SENSATION IN EUROPE
CESARISM IN PERSPECTIVE
POSTPONEMENT OF GENERAL ELECTION

Liverpool, Jan. 29. (2 p.m.)

Boulanger's victory has caused a suspicious sensation throughout Europe.

The German press is reticent, and it appears to be a general conviction that Cesarism will be the ultimate outcome of Boulanger's triumph.

It is proposed to postpone the general election in France till October.

Paris, 29—Boulanger's election is the great topic in the native and foreign press. The press in general is not satisfied, and see danger in the near future.

The Cabinet met to-day. It was resolved that M. Floquet present on Monday to the Chambers proposing the reestablishment of the 'Scrutin d'Arondissement," and state the general policy of the Cabinet.

The Press Law, according to rumour, will be modified.

BANCO DE ITALIA Y RIO DE LA PLATA.

SPLENDID WORKING OF THE BANK.

20 PER CENT. GOLD DIVIDEND.

The half-yearly meeting of this flourishing bank came off in the hall of the bank's premises in Calle Piedad, there being no available room in the Bank during the day, as the Board parlor has been invaded by the clerks. Until the enlargements at the rear are completed all the bank meetings must be held at night, as owing to the enormous increase of the bank's business, the patios, archives, and board parlors are crammed with bookkeepers and employees. Even the very large strong room is now hardly large enough to hold all the Cedulas and other securities deposited for safe keeping by Italian investors residing in Europe.

Mr. Devoto, chairman of the bank, presided, and made a few appropriate remarks before the reading of the report which runs as follows:

Gentlemen: In accordance with the 24th article of the statutes, the Board have the honor of presenting the balance sheet for the second half year of 1888. The net profits, after making allowance for the bad and doubtful debts, amount to $377,597.51, gold. Of this sum the Board propose $100,000 gold to be added to the Provision Fund, $13,311.80 gold to be carried forward, and the remaining $264,285.71 gold to be distributed in accordance with the statutes, as follows:

4 o/o Founders	$	10,571.43
7o/o Board of Management		18,500.00
5o/o Reserve Fund		13,214.28
84 o/o Shareholders, or $10 gold for 15,000 shares-$150,000; $4.80 gold for 15,000 certificates, $72,000		222,000.00
	gold	$264,285.71

In spite of the paralyzation of business owing to the restriction of discounts, the result of the balance is in no way inferior to that of last year. The Board feel considerable satisfaction in submitting to you these figures, which reflect the ever-increasing prosperity of the Bank, and entertain the hope you will approve the balance sheet and report. Our branch in Rosario has also progressed very favorably during the last half-year, and the results have fully come up to our expectations. The Board, moreover, by right conferred by annual meeting, have deemed it advisable to open a branch in La Plata. This branch has been working since last month in temporary premises, since we purpose erecting a more suitable building for the branch. The site has already been purchased at the corner of Boulevard F. and Calle 48. By means of this branch the Board hope to extend the beneficent action of our institution in this city and Rosario. The Board have approved the following consulting directors for the branch: Messrs: Santiago Carbone, Dr. R. Marco del Pont, Victor M. Boggiano, Estanislao Lopez and Estevan Bianchi. Mr. Antonio Quadri has been named manager.

The "memoria', or report was then put to the meeting, and the chairman invited the shareholders to make any remarks they thought paper.

Mr. Mulhall considered that the figures in the balance sheet could hardly be more favorable; the deposits in the bank were now up to 20 million nats., and he considered that this item was the very best proof of the flourishing state of the bank which had grown up within the last few years, under careful and good management from being the youngest and most insignificant to one of the largest and most important in the market now. For many years back this bank had regularly paid 20 per cent. per annum gold dividend to its shareholders, besides setting aside 200,000 m/n gold each year to its reserve. No other bank in Buenos Aires has done the same, and now with a reserve of over one million gold, splendid banking premises, both in this city and Rosario, all bad debts written off, and a banking business increasing daily, he thought the Directors seized the proper occasion to reform some of the statutes which when framed never contemplated such a business development in so short a time. He might be excused for remarking that if the credit of the Plate in London owed much to the prosperity of the Great Southern R. R. and the London and River Plate Bank so also in Italy it owed even more to the splendid prosperity of the Banco de Italia, whose shares are held by the richest bankers in Genoa.

The report was then passed and the proposed reforms in the statutes read over and approved. A special vote of thanks to Mr. Stoppani for his able management, and to the whole bank staff was also passed. The meeting then rose.

The following is the balance sheet;

Buenos Aires, 31 de Decienb re de 1888

INAUGURATION OF THE SOUTH BASIN.

MR F MADERO'S SPEECH.

Mr Vice President,
Ladies and gentlemen.

Above all I must thank Divine Providence for having vouchsafed to allow me to take part in the inauguration we solemnise to-day; the inauguration of the first section of the B. Ayres Port, this great object of my ambition, to which I have consecrated years of study, and for which I staked the future of my own children. Twenty years of struggle, 20 years of bitter deception were impotent to shake the faith I cherished in its ultimate success.

One word, Sir, before I begin to recount the history of this work. In the course of my story, I shall mention your name and that of your worthy father. I had been prepared to address the President of the Republic, and, although he is absent, I do not think that a motive of sufficient strength to close the mouth of Justice.

On the 7th of January 1861, I presented myself to the Government of Buenos Ayres and proposed to build a dock with stores—there, in front of the Viceroy's Custom-House—and to dredge a channel to the deepest part of the River Plate. My proposal was submitted to Engineers Carlos E Pellegrini and Otto Arnim, and to the Government assessor, Dr Valentin Alsina, for consideration. These gentlemen reported favorably and my project, thus strengthened, was laid before the legislature on the March of that year. Half my life has passed since. How much time lost! But at that time, it was maintained, and many sensible men believed it too, that a deep channel in the bed of the Plate was only a dream at the best. It was in vain that my project was defended by the combined voices of such men as Dr Valentin Alsina, Norberto de la Riestra, Manuel Jose Guerrico, Juan Bautista Peña, Ambrosio Lezica, and Engineer Pellegrini whose name is historically identified with this work. The first campaign, which was weakened by the politican dissensions that terminated on the field of Pavon, was consequently reduced to one of more propaganda.

In 1863, when the Republic had been re-organized, I again presented my project to the Government, and as Mr. Henry S. Green had applied for a similar concession the Executive decided on the 23rd June to call for plans and estimates of the work, allowing 12 months for the presentation of the same. I was the only one to comply. The then Minister, Dr. Rawson, thought it necessary to bring out engineers from Europe to study the question here. My financial co-adjutors recoiled at the prospect of so much expenditure. Nevertheless, I subsequently succeeded in organizing a second group of capitalists amongst Argentines and foreign residents, Messrs. Manuel José Guerrico, Juan Bautist Peña, G, Attucha, J. and P. Llavallol, J. Pache co, J. Frias, T. Armstrong and Carlos Saguior who promised me their support, more out of love for the country than with any hope of profit. I entered into negotiations with Mr. Proudfoot, who represented a syndicate of British capitalists, and with Messrs. Bell and Miller, who were proposed as technical directors of the work. In 1868 Messrs. Madero, Proudfoot and Co. presented a project to carry out the works. President Sarmiento and his illustrious minister, Dr. Velez Sarsfield, were warmly in favor of our scheme which also found a decided support in the Chambers. But the voice of another illustrious Argentine was raised against it in the Senate. I had reluctantly to yield in favor of the hostile opinion which began to prevail. In silence and in sorrow I perceived that the hour for realizing my cherished project was still far away.------. In 1874, I again presented my project and President Avellaneda allowed six months for the presentation of new plans and estimates. But the country was enveloped in a political and financial crisis, and we were compelled to tax our thrift and hunger to meet our engagements abroad. At long last, the day of triumph dawned. Not a cloud obscured the sky. We triumphed, and after this lengthy via crucis I can point to the purity of my motives and efforts and to the uprightness of the public men with whom I had to deal in carrying my profect through. For co-operation in official spheres I am indebted to Senators Pellegrini, Ortiz, Lucero and Davila, and to Deputies Gallo, Ruiz de los Llanos, Palacios, Tofre, Bouquet, Calvo, Tagle and Solveyra, to Ministers Irigunoyen, Wilde, B. Paz and Chavarria, and to President Roca, who finally decreed the glorious work initiated by the immortal Rivadavia.

For support in private spheres I owe a debt of gratitude to Messrs. Vicente and Lucio Lopez, Ocantos, Zavalia, Emilio Mitre y Vedia and many others whose names I must forget in order not to encroach too much on the time allotted for the inaugural ceremony.

Pressure on our space compels us to cut short Mr. Eduardo Madero's eloquent address at this point. We are constrained to skip over his grateful allusions to General Roca, Mr. Drabble, Mr. Gilmour, Mr. Henderson and to the principal contractor, Mr. Thomas Walker, who was enthusiastically cheered on board the Brown.

Vice-President Pellegrini in reply said;

Gentlemen,

I esteem it as a high favor of fortune that I should preside over this ceremony and inaugurate in the name of the nation this first section of the port works of the capital. We have waited long for this moment, and its slow and laborious gestation is no doubt proportionate to the results that may be expected from the port when launched into active and vigorous existence. Of all the public works raised by national effort, none is greater, none more transcendental than this, for it is not only another feature of our progress, but the crowning work that completes the fundamental attire of this emporium, whose benefiting action not only spreads throughout the country at large, but extends its power to the neighbouring republic.

The work we so auspiciously inaugurate to day, when completed, will be the central point whence iron rails will radiate across the Andine, Bolivian and Paraguayan frontiers; here they will gather at the focus of the trade and industry of this part of the continent, solidly forged to these docks that form a new and stronger link in the world's commerce.

After crossing the ocean waste, fast and large ships will moor along these quays, and pour out the treasure of their cargoes into waggons to form trains that like enormous snakes will creep all over this republic and the neighbouring states; these will return with the fruits of Asuncion toil which in their transatlantic passage in the capacious holds will be the most eloquent proof of human fraternity, showing how the works of all people are confounded in the final result—the common weal.

Our commercial importance is a puzzle to all who for the first time visit these shores and see that our port is an immense beach bathed by a sea open to all arrivals and replete with danger. From the ship that dropped anchor in our roads to our means of carriage on land there was a great break in the chain of communication, the two ends being sundered by immense flats covered with raging billows; and in time when our shore will be covered with docks and lined with thousands of ships loading and unloading, free of all danger and risk, it will be difficult for future generations to gather an idea of what the Buenos Ayres port is yet under present circumstances; from the big steamer to the tender, from the tender to the lighter, from the lighter to the cart, from the last to the shoulders of the robust sailor to get to the mole! Goods loaded, unloaded, transhipped, unloaded again into carts, damaged, soaked often too with cart and horses in a spring tide!

Yesterday only at this spot where soon the feverish activity of a great port will develope, there was an immense flat where fishermen spread their primitive nets and reeds grew in luxuriance—symbols of stagnation and neglect. These wonderful transformations that operate in new countries must be seen to be believed, and even fail to reproduce the true picture of what progress has wiped out for ever.

There is something elevating and comforting in this event. Every epoch, every generation has its mission, and when facts confirm our fulfilment of that mission we feel the ultimate satisfaction that our passage through life has not been barren of results.

I do not know the extent of American bias that may blind my judgment, but I firmly believe that the 20th century whose threshold we are approaching will be the century of American greatness—a future that imposes on us special obligations.

The fertile and immense deserts of our continent we hold as trustees; they were placed there by the hand of the creator, and if we hold them it is on condition that they belong to us, to our sons, and to all men who care to settle and work on them under our liberal laws.

Just as the East threw its exuberant population on the West, Europe to-day is sending her human surplus to America, but in the latter emigration there is a process of selection that is producing very visible results. The present emigrant is above the ordinary level in energy and vitality, and absorbed in our ambient and in our national life as source and root of our population, he developes that energy, activity, and spirit of daring characteristic of American nations. Hence has sprung that yankee genius which is not the patrimony of any race, but the outcome of selection which must tell in Latin America, sprung from a race that has filled the most brilliant pages in the history of the world. It is our mission to prepare the ground, to populate our deserts, navigate our rivers, open canals, build railways, open ports, in fact establish the great arteries for the blood that is coming from abroad. Those who blame us for going too fast do not grasp the future, do not understand the task before us and the duty we must fulfil.

From this day we can stretch a hand to the emigrant to help him to jump ashore, in a free land where he can form an Argentine home and family, surrounded by all the elements necessary for his prosperity and industry.

Capitalists may rest assured that the works we have on hand are not superior to our forces; no better proof of the fact than the great work we inaugurate to-day.

Now an expression of national gratitude to the promoters and executors of this work. All honour to the greatest of Argentine statesmen who in the cradle of our national existence decreed that this work be done half a century ago. Years rolled by, but the idea always lived. The Congress of 1882 voted the great law: General Roca drew up the contract, after after of 60 years expectancy. None supported Rivadavia's idea with such energy and perseverance as Mr. Edward Madero; the people have christened the port with his name, thus immortalizing him for all time. His engineers, Messrs. Hawkshaw and Hayter have here confirmed the reputation they earned in their country: in stating that this is the first great public work finished within term of contract and within the original estimates, I give no faint praise to the contractors, Messrs. Walker: in the name of the Nation I thank both engineers and contractors.

From here we see the innumerable masts of the Riachuelo: the very deck we tread has passed over the channel that is a lasting monument to the merit of Argentine engineers. In this testimony of national gratitude, I must include the committee of the Riachuelo works and engineer Huergo.

Blessed in the name of the Creator, source of all truth, I now open this Basin to National commerce.

Minister Quirno-Costa then rose and said:

Gentlemen

On me the honor has devolved of representing as sponsor the President of the Republic, and he has particularly requested me to express the great satisfaction he feels, when he considers the immense advantages which the country will reap from the realization of this great work, destined to facilitate and stimulate the development of our commercial relations with foreign countries. Over half a century has elapsed since that illustrious statesman, Rivadavia, first realized the necessity of endowing B. Ayres with a port. But the magnitude of the work distanced all the means then at the disposal of the country to carry it out. To accomplish such a task, the growing prosperity and peace of the country were essential and from to-day we may mark the disappearance of the disastrous effects of the Pampa winds. The new port is a triumph over the forces of nature. Let us honor, therefore, gentlemen, the undying spirit of Rivadavia, who was the first to conceive the idea of a great port for the Argentine capital, and our gratitude to those who have supported and carried out that idea, to those who supplied the money, and above all to Eduardo Madero, whose unshakable faith and unconquerable energy have victoriously overcome all obstacle to the great gentlemen, from to-day, we can no longer say that B. Ayres has no port, and this joyful news is now being wired to all civilized countries.

Mr. Madero; Accept the congratulations of the President of the Republic on your indefatigable perseverance. To-day our country counts amongst its great works of progress this colosal monument, which the Government now opens to commerce.

LONDON LETTER.

THE MORIER INCIDENT. EMIN, THE WHITE PASHA. ARMED EUROPE. THE MURDER EPIDEMIC IN ENGLAND.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Jan. 4th.

I have just posted an overwhelming parcel of printed matter by the R. Mail supplementary. I retained the correspondence between Sir Robert Morier and Count Herbert Bismarck because I was anxious to see as much as possible of publicly expressed opinions. Both here, in France and in Russia, and I think amongst the best and most typical Germans, the opinion is very unfavorable to the Prussian Court party, and there is a general regret that Count Herbert who has hitherto been so popular even in England, should have damaged his reputation as a gentleman by throwing himself into the arms of the barrack-ring at Berlin, and trying to imitate so early in his lease of responsability, the worst features of his father's manner. On the other hand, when Sir Robert Morier absolutely sends to the Court Marshal Bazaine's own contradiction of the tale told by the German military attaché at Madrid—one Deines—it is thought that would have been sufficient without, in writing to Count Herbert, allowing it to be seen that our ambassador at St. Petersburg was not only riled at the calumny, but that Count Bismarck himself should have assisted, when in England, in propagating the slander. The indignation was thoroughly justifiable, but ambassadors must learn not to resent personal affronts. Had Sir Robert Morier been in Berlin instead of St. Petersburg, in place of Count Herbert's curt reply he would most likely have received his passports like Lord Sackville at Washington. Sir Robert Morier is sixty. He is an old and tried diplomatist. He is not likely to make mistakes as to fact. If Major von Deines at Madrid was told by Bazaine that the first intimation he had of the passage of the Moselle by the German troops at the outbreak of the Franco-German war was by a telegram from Sir Robert Morier at Darmstadt via London, and if Bazaine denies that he ever said so, the correspondent of the Times in Paris suggests an ingenious mode of reconciling the discrepancies. He reminds us that von Deines in his dispatch from Madrid to the German Government, in allusion to Sir R. Morier's telegram, never says from the English Minister, but of (des) the minister at Darmstadt. Hence there may have been a third party in the transaction. Some one in London with French sympathies who, seeing Morier's dispatch, sent it to Bazaine or to Paris. That would not much mend matters. For Morier must by this time have heard if that were so, and could not under the circumstances have got up the indignation he manifests in his letter to Count Herbert.

A more probable solution is that the original statement made to von Deines was lie 1 of Bazaine's, and his denial to Morier that any such conversation had taken place was lie 2. Major von Deines' report was made in 1880 when Bazaine was living on charity at Madrid. From that date till 1888 it has been bottled up by the German Government and made use of now when evidence is wanted in the Geffeken trial to slander and defile the memory of the Emperor Fredrich whose son alas! reigns. Sir Robert Morier in 1870 was at Darmstadt. He avoided equally the stuffy atmosphere of German officialdom and the stench of the barrack, and as a magnanimous Englishman found refuge in the society of the then Crown Prince and his family. Sir Robert is now equally at home amongst the elite of Russian society, where English gentlemen are appreciated. His popularity in St. Petersburg is part of his offence to the ruling regime in Berlin. Unless Sir Robert in the Bazaine question has equivocated, the whole business will recoil upon the heads of the German Government and its reptilian gang headed by the Kohn Zeitung.

I enclose one more estimate taken from the Daily News of the armed population of the continent of Europe. You will find the communication very interesting. It seems, including the war strength and 1st and 2nd class of reserves, 28 millions of men, all in the prime of life, are liable to be called out in case of war. Excluding the old and incapable, as well as women and children, that number represents a population of quite 200 millions. It is very satisfactory to see that at St. Petersburg they reciprocate the kind words uttered by M Tira and King Humbert on New Year's Day. The Russian press hopes that the year will be one of peace. I cannot say that the German Emperor's address to his generals at a late reception was very assuring. He said: "The day upon which I have gathered you all together here round me for the first time will be one which I shall for ever remember. I hope you will serve me in the work which we have before us with the same faithfulness and conscientiousness that you did my grandfather."

At home the murder epidemic continues. At Bradford a boy 8 years old was murdered and mutilated, and at Zeovil in Somerset a girl of ten; at Glasgow an unfortunate was stabbed in the abdomen, but she still lives. The supposed murderers are under arrest. The Bradford case has been inquired into for some time, but excepting the Glasgow case there is at yet nothing certain as to the perpetrators. At first the "Ripper" was supposed to be the culprit. As far as we can judge that does not appear to be the case. Eight detectives are on the look out for him in N. York. The recent crimes are more likely to be melancholy instances of demoralisation caused by the publicity given to the Whitechapel murders. The imitative faculty has been excited in weak minds and in minds predisposed to violence.

In regard to Stanley and Emin the news is again favorable, but still indecisive. What we have seems to amount to this that Stanley has relieved Emin and is on his way back to the Congo, and that Emin as the White Pasha has defeated the dervishes in the Bahr-al-Ghazal.

MUNICIPAL INSPECTORS.

January 28, 1889.

To the Editor of the STANDARD.

Dear Sir,

I see the Inspector General, Sr. Alvarez is just coming slowly to a sense of his duty in the matter of "conventillos" and their relation to municipal laws of higiene; yet us hope he will not forgot the wretched, abominably filthy tenement houses along the Paseo de Julio, notably one large such place—between Rivar and Libertad—where religious services are held regularly on Sundays and on week day nights. Let Mr. Alvarez or any of the inspectors under him just take the trouble to go round this latter place and see the large greenish pools of water, the filthy heaps of garbage, the exceedingly imperfect arrangements for carrying of rain-water, opposite and around the very doors of everyone, almost; the inhabitants of this most unhealthy and undesirable place, and thus realize to what dangers these ignorant and negligent, though honest and hard-working people are exposing their precious health day by day, and alas, how vast the difference is between what is done and what should be done.

Municipal inspectors, as well as any other class or kind of government employees—are, I presume, paid for doing their duty; why, in the name of Heaven do they not do it? There has been a good deal of sickness, and there is no small amount of dissatisfaction at this state of affairs in the locality to which I have made special reference.

I declare this stupid and sickening apathy of those who are paid by and out of the pockets of the people to watch over, and hold themselves responsible—humanly speaking—is beyond legitimate endurance for the public health. Will the gentlemen municipal inspectors do their duty, will they kindly do us this great and generous favor, or must an epidemic visit this part of the town ere the above manage to convince themselves of the downright truth and justice of the few remarks I venture, with your kind permission, to make, in the interests of public health, and of public honesty.

Begging of you the insertion of these few lines.

I remain,
Yours sincerely,
F.

PARIS LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent)

January 4th, 1888

In point of foreign relations, the situation of France is better than last year. Her armament has not been so much augmented as more perfected; her system of strategic railways has been extended and better coordinated, on her Northern frontier especially, which was rather naked to her enemies. Her arsenals are well stocked, her soldiers well disciplined, her officers up to the level of the age. The Minister of War has an unlimited credit with the tax-payer, so long, as he states, such money is wanted to secure security of fire-sides.

Politically, she has to record a score in drawing closer to Russia. That union of interests must make Germany pause. France is not now exactly "isolated," that which has been the 'Delenda est Carthago' of Prince Bismarck. Indirectly, France benefits by the greater diplomatic independence of England. The latter is not so pliable to Germany, though her joint action off Zanzibar is not exactly an illustration in point. However, there is no game of cross-purposes between England and France. Russia has gone in for the waiting game; it is not over Central Asia or Persia she has to keep watch, but on the European "disjecta membra" of Turkey. Austria disputes these bones with her. The magnitude of European armaments, the colossal additions being daily made to them, the terrible consequences of defeat to any of the European powers, or alliances; these are the pledges the New, as did the expired year, afford us for peace. Perhaps, permanent peace may relatively be secured, by the financial exhaustion of rivals. Combate, we know, have finished, fault of combatants. It is the longest purse then, and not the best armed nation; the people who can hold out longest and to tire the other down—like goldsmith's village dancers, that will win.

This year France will be smitten with the plague of elections—local as well as general. There are ten millions of electors in the country, and they must be kept in a state of intermittent fever. In the country, the peasants and the artizans seem to view all this suffrage rushing and crushing with a sceptical indifference. Paris may be the head of France, but the provinces claim to represent all the rest of the constitutional body. At present, the keen observer cannot but note that the provincial voters are no longer in community of idea, or sympathy of feeling, with the reigning political world. There is a complete separation between them and their representatives. The deputies have no poise, no grip, on the rurals; the latter have lost confidence, because they feel they have been deceived, systematically fooled, by a succession of deputies, who made Thousand and one Night's promises, and never realized any. They avoid the trade politician as a pest, and view his world with nausea.

Then again the rurals, who hold the key of the situation, are angry. They are irritated at the spectacle of the Chamber of Deputies perpetually demolishing cabinets and making the racing for office the one thing needful in public life, and the triumph of party the chief business of national administration. The growth, too, of personalities; the abuse of all public men: the levity with which charges are hurled at the heads of representatives by a swarm of journals; the destruction of respect, the sapping of authority, the confusion, the dismay, all these elements have contributed to make the provincials sour, callous and sceptical.

Is it any wonder then, that such an imponderable, unfathomable, and undefinable thing as "Boulangism" should not be the out-put of such discontent and disappointment. Perhaps the individual who knows least about Boulangism, is the General himself. A vague current has set in, and irresistibly seized upon him as a kind of avenger Saviour. Where that current may land, him, what he means to do if he passes safely through the breakers and the surf, Boulanger perhaps knows about as much as the man in the moon. That he is on the top of a huge political wave cannot be gainsaid. It is useless ignoring that. Call it by what name you please, dictatorism, Cæsarism, plébiscitism, &c., appellations however numerous, will not change facts, nor anticipate solutions.

The election for the department of the Seine, that is for Paris and the suburbs, will take place on the 27th. Boulanger has kept his words: he will contest the seat, and to prove it, has issued not his "address," but his "appeal" to the 600,000 elections to help him to uphold the Republic by chasing away those who have let it down and shaded its fair name. The "appeal" has been well drafted and strikes the note of the situation. It has the ring of courage and earnest fight. Besides, it is unmistakably republican, and asks the electors to support him as a protest against the continuance of a legislature that is moribund and deprived of authority, and to secure at once a constituent, direct and fresh from the heart of the nation, that will have the soul to dare and to carry out the required constitutional changes.

Will he win this Waterloo of the 27th? It is a stand-up fight between whatever he represents, and the Government, their supporters, and the present deputies. If he succeeds, the consequence will be to discount the period of the holding of the general elections. Will he triumph? The elements of the calculation are too vague, and temperaments too unstable, to formulate a dennite reply. But chance, feeling, and uncertainty, are on his side. It will be a most important contest. Should the general elections follow in April, and Boulanger be returned for several electorates; the first change would be the resignation of M. Carnot, who would I think not reject being relieved of the cares of State. The vacancy would be filled up as easily as was M. Grevy's.

Having a majority in the Chamber, the first act of his friends would be to reinstate the General in his command in the army. The latter is not hostile to him; and if he be again seated in the saddle, it will be difficult to ever dislodge him. It would be a mistake to estimate Boulanger as a fool. He may not know to where his popularity is sweeping him, but he can always know what he will not do. Perhaps in the home situation there will be a cleansing of the administration; but as for rushing into war, and only the people could force Boulanger to rush into it, all the chances would be that once entered on that road, his career would be curtailed.

The people are gradually drifting into remembering, they have an Exhibition to view, and thousands of international visitors to receive; hence, the increasing activity about the Champ de Mars. Then again, exhibitors are arriving with their cases, and demand their place to show their business.

The holidays have terminated, and more cheerily than was anticipated. A good deal of money changed hands in purchases, and everyone has made something. Panama does not engage now any very absorbing attention. Losers and victims know the worst, and have arranged their hopes and feelings accordingly. There is no want of practical confidence felt in M. de Lesseps, but at the same time, shareholders exact that the company's accounts be overhauled, to find out how, on all the loans effected, the expenses amounted to 33 per cent?

THE CENTRAL ENTRE-RIANO DONE UP BY THE RAINS—THE PACIFIC AND NORTHERN LINES. THE ANDINE AND ARGENTINE GREAT WESTERN RAILWAYS—INSPECTOR'S REPORTS. NEW RAILWAY IN PARAGUAY.

Last evening Dr. Araoz received a telegram from Inspector Luciano Quesada, announcing that the heavy rains had seriously injured the earthworks of the Central Entre-Riano. Between kil. 129 and 142, the earthworks have been washed away. The rails for about 50 metres are, as Mr. Quesada says, in the air. Of course traffic has been suspended and confusion prevails. The manager is moving Heaven and earth to get the line all right. The time-table has been modified to meet the exigencies of the moment.

Inspector Iriarte, whose headquarters are in the Central Station, wrote last Monday to Dr. Araoz calling his attention to the delays in the service of the Pacific and Northern Lines. He advises Dr. Araoz to summon the managers of these two concerns and allow them a fixed time to have their lines repaired. The present state of affairs may be tolerated for a day, but certainly not for an eternity. On Sunday not a single train of the Northern arrived according to time-table, and the minimum delay was 15 minutes. These delays not are only detrimental to traffic but create the utmost confusion amongst the other companies whose trains run into Central. Between the Central station and the Retiro there are no drains and as a natural result the waters cover the rails and stagnate. The manager of the Northern says that this is not his fault and that with a little good will on the part of the Catalinas Mole Company the drains could be made. This question should be settled, according to Mr Iriarte, by the municipality. The Retiro station is not in the best of conditions, and a large quantity of offal has been accumulating hard by from time immemorial.

The total returns of the Central Entre-Riano in 1888 amounted to $143,823 against $81,299 in 1887, which shows an increase of over 70 per cent. This speaks well for the new administration.

The Provincial Board of Railways have approved of all the improvements projected by Mr Ringuelet in the Once and in the section from that station to Lujan. Let them knock down the station.

Mr Carlos Casado has written to the Home-Minister stating that he is about to begin to build that railway from Rosario to Pergamino.

Government has approved the transfer made by Messrs Martinez and Co of their concession to build a line from this city to Bahia Blanca. As our readers are already aware the Banco Colonizador purchased this concession some time ago.

Inspector Preiswerk writing from Tucuman, gives in his last report, some details in regard to delays and other irregularities, which may be traced to the rains which have caused some damage to the road-beds up country. Nevertheless, it cannot be said that the time-table is a dead letter. The road-bed, as already observed, has been somewhat injured by the recent rains. The waters carried away a small portion of the earthworks. The rolling-stock is in excellent condition, with the exception of the engines Sud America, Lavalle and Ayacucho, which are being repaired. Mr. Preiswerk says that more attention should be paid to the lighting of the carriages, and concludes his report with the statement that the signal service is susceptible of much improvement.

The latest official report in the Andine and Great Western lines is dated Jan. 25, and was received yesterday at the National Railway Board. Mr. Leon, the inspector, says that the Andine is undergoing no very remarkable change, either for better or for worse. Steel rails have been laid to the miserable extent of 261 metres. Rio Quarto Station is being repaired and improved,

EDITOR'S TABLE

Steamers and railways just now receive more kicks than halfpence from the authorities. It is unnecessary pain to refer to the daily, almost hourly, fines imposed on railways; and now we see that the captain of the Ohio has been fined 500 nats. for cramming into his ship 200 more emigrants than it was made to hold.

Mr. S. "That man over there makes half a-dozen trips through the town every day, and scores of women he doesn't know nod to him and try to stop him." The victim—"Is he an actor?" Mr. S.—"No; a tramway mayoral."

Mrs. Blood (to the colonel, who has returned from fighting a duel)—"Oh, colonel, you look distressed. Is it possible you have injured your antagonist?" Colonel Blood—"A devilish sight worse, my dear. I killed a valuable mule in an adjoining lot, and I suppose I'll have to pay for him."

We read in our Asuncion exchanges that Messrs. Crappin Noel & Co. have started there a Café de Paris on a scale of Asiatic gorgeousness. They have also started the "la carte" system, with the price marked for each dish. Our excellent colleague El Paraguayo is in ecstacies at this wonderful "innovation." We really had no idea that the cart was still before the horse to such an extent in poor Paraguay that a "diner à la carte" is considered a striking innovation. The bullock-cart evidently still reigns supreme in Paraguay. What can Land Warrant holders hope from such a gastronomically backward country?

A delicate question has arisen in Rosario through the arrest of several Italians who were seized and sent to La Plata, to serve as soldiers, but the Chief of Police there did not like the look of the business and wisely sent them back to Rosario. The Italian Consul there then sailed in and applied to Judge Avalos for a writ of Habeas Corpus, which that energetic magistrate at once issued, giving the Chief of Police only six hours in which to obey it; the latter answered in four hours, that the men were arrested as thieves, that most of them had completed their imprisonment and would be released next day, but if they remained in the city he would have them watched, as they are bad hats. So this ticklish business stands.

The Italian actress 'esclandre' in staid Corrientes is worse than ever, owing to her arbitrary arrest, against which her lawyer at once applied for a writ of Habeas Corpus to the Federal Judge, who declared he had no right to grant it. The Italian Minister here has now been asked to interfere. Who would have thought that the summary way adopted by a no-longer amorous Mayor to get back jewels he had presented to a lady would create a noise that will reverberate in the Foreign Office at Rome. There is another prodigious row going on the Correntino capital about two members of the Constituent Convention being summarily expelled from that eloquent and most illustrious body. What the poor fellows did we really do not know, and feel half inclined to add—dont care.

Many Scotch subscribers beg us to suggest to the Committee of St. Andrew's Club that the publication in a small pamphlet of the proceedings at the Burns Anniversary Dinner would be highly agreeable to the whole Scotch community.

El Sabado 2 y Domingo 3 de Febrero

y despues de una carne con cuero, daremos principio á la venta de las magníficas chacras que estan poniendo en la colonia Sauce Corto (centro agricola) situada á solamente 30 cuadras de la estacion del mismo nombre del ferro-carril del Sud.

Calidad del terreno—En toda la extensa zona que tiene la linea del ferrocarril del Sud, no existe una area de tierra que sea mas adecuada para la agricultura.

En cualquier parte, el labrador encuentra mas de un metro de profundidad de tierra vegetal, no siendo estraordinario que la capa de tierra arable pase de dos ó tres metros.

Es una planicie uniforme, donde jamas se estacionan las aguas, sirviendo el arroyo Sauce Corto, para el dranaje natural de todo el campo, pues lo limita al Norde. Este por sus elevadas barrancas.

Todo el perimetro destinado á la colonia, está alambrado. No existe dentro de el hacienda alguna.

Todos los agricultores conocen las ventajas y concesiones que tienen segun la ley de centros agricolas con arreglo á la cual se venderan estas chacras.

Las tierras reconocen una hipoteca de $50 m/n por hectareas pagaderas en 25 años, que pasara al comprador, haciendose cargo de dichas cédulas al precio de bolsa el dia antes del remate.

Y el resto se abonará un 5 ojo al contado y 95 restante á cuatro años de plazo con hipoteca del mismo campo,

NOTA—Los interesados tienen que salir en el tren de la tarde del Viernes 1° de Febrero de la estacion Constitucion.

Planos detallados pueden obtenerse en nuestra casa, Alsina 484.

Business at the ring to-day was brisk, both in gold and stocks, but the depression, instead of disappearing, became even more accentuated, giving rise to fears that this liquidation will fall heavily all round. It might be imagined from the apparent weakness of gold for cash and for February that matters are much easier now than was anticipated, but it is a certain and unerring sign of a "corner" looming up to find the rate for end of month stiffening at every day's approach to the liquidation, and with a "corner" in prospect it is impossible to calculate the chances. As for stocks, they are palpably tottering. Nat. Bank Shares tumbled to 262, and will come down still further according to general opinion, as it seems that the dividend will not be any larger than formerly, or say 16 o/o for the year. Credito Real boomed up in a most promising fashion yesterday, and inspired holders with a premature measure of confidence, but tumbled to-day and look no better than the rest. Constructors, which have shewn such a bold front up to the present, also chimed in with the fall and fell back to 135. As these stocks are the most generally dealt in in the market, the effects of a further fall cannot be overestimated, especially as dealers have not been at all fortunate during the past four months.

The sale of the house property corner of Azcenaga and Arenales has been effected at 13,000 dollars, or say $62,38 the square yard; buyer Mr. Thomas Canelas.

The topic of the moment in business circles in the Mount is the proposed arrangement between National Bank and Obras Company under which the latter gets from the former 2 million dollars on security of its properties. A committee has been named composed of Messrs Gowland, Stewart, Ayarragaray, Montana, Diaz and Falcon, to study the nature and value of the security offered and report on the proposal, which if rejected will cause a pan-demonium on change at the settlment, as the shares if not taken up will undergo a terrible collapse. However, it is confidently expected that the proposal will be favorably received and the money advanced which will save the situation and avert very heavy losses.

The important sale of 215,000 square yards with frontage on the boulevards Corrientes and Cordoba between villa Ortuga and villa Mazzini was reported to-day, price 2 dollars the square yard and buyer Mr. Luis Richeri, the well known real estate dealer.

The statutes of the Cooperativa de Panaderia, capital 100,000$ in 10$ shares were approved by the Government to-day.

Mr. Condomi has applied for the registration of the statutes of the "Recolectora del Hogar," an insurance concern, capital 500,000$.

Messrs. Madero and Sons have submitted to the Home Minister the conditions for the discharge of material in Dock No. 1.

Mr. Pompeio Colombo has purchased from Mr. Chavane the right to build the Rio Grande Bridge in Jujuy. The plans of the Valle Bridge in Catamarca were approved by Government to-day. Tenders will be called for the construction of this bridge.

There was a keen discussion in the hall to-day over the appearance of the Banco Constructor Report for the past year, by which it seems that the lucky holders of "obligaciones," in addition to being able to dispose of their paper at 100 per cent. premium, will also receive 11 per cent. more dividend than those who remained true in their allegiance to the shares. This is the subject of much comment, as it seems that the shareholders were totally unaware of this blessing in store for those who put in for "obligaciones". The original shares are entitled to 15 o/o, which with 6 o/o already paid makes 21 o/o for the year; those who applied for 'obligaciones' get 26.03 per cent., which with the 6 bonus cent. makes 32,03 per cent.; the scrip comes in proportion to the capital represented. This shews a very prosperous state of affairs, indeed, and marks the progress of the bank, but the apportioning of the dividend is giving rise to much comment.

Camp advices report the crops in such a bad state that further rain will cause irretrievable loss. In Tandil and Olavarria, where the crops promised at one time the most glorious results, the farmers are trembling with apprehension, whilst in the Hinojo, Nievas, San Jacinto, San Miguel and Dos Hermanas colonies the lowest calculations set down as lost the half of the crops. A lack of hands accentuates the loss, which will be ruinously complete unless the weather now keep favorable.

A cyclone swept over Dolores on Saturday last, knocking down houses, carrying away roofs and even prostrating stout young trees in the neighbourhood. Fortunately there was no loss of life. In Balcarce, Tandil and Ayacucho the torrential rain caused all the rivers to overflow their banks.

In Lomas the sale is reported of 8 blocks pertaining to the Rosende chacra "or 135,000, buyer Mr. Fernandez; also a lot of 38x23 varas for $1000, another of 15x50 varas for $1000, and 12x17 mets. for 3650 dollars.

Messrs Milani and Borden have purchased from Mr. Soti the Izurieta camp near Adela station for $21,900; as the camp contains some 160 squares; price comes out at 135 dollars the square.

Yesterday the sale was effected of the corner site Calles Cuyo and Libertad, 18 yards on the former and 20 on the latter, with martillo "a su favor," for 64,000, or say for the 400 yards 160 dollars the square yard, buyer Mr. Arthur Castaño.

Bullrich and Co sold some large lots yesterday in the new town Mar del Sud, the total sales realizing 120,000 dollars, averaging 2000 dollars the block.

The Board of the Banco Agricola Comercial is composed as follows:—President, Dr. Don Bernardo de Irigoyen; Vice-Prosiduet, Don Zoilo L. Pineyrua; Members, Justo M. Pinero, C. Libaros, Tristan Malbran, Dr. Andres Ugarriza, P. Ham, Dr. C. Clausolles, and Maximo Paz.

The business at the second hour was brisk in gold and National Bank Shares, the former closing steady at 153.80 for tomorrow, 153.70 for end of month, and 152.70 for end February. It was thought that prices would have advanced much more, but there were always plenty of sellers at the rates, and unless there comes a "corner" at the last moment the rate will probably decline instead of advancing. However, it is useless to forecast until the buyers for February 1st the 5/8 quotation soon rose to 263 for end of month and 265.50 end of February. In the other stocks there was little or no movement, and even Cedulas were flat.
